

Average left-right positioning of ministers in OECD Countries

The scoring is computed averaging the 'rile' score of each minister's party of affiliation – by year and OECD country.

Left-right average score

Source: WhoGov & Manifesto Project; from 1990 to 2023.

Counts are unweighted and the panel is unbalanced.

A higher score indicates a more right-wing party manifesto. The possible values span from -50 (extreme left) to 50 (extreme right).